Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 08 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A few showers again tomorrow, mainly in the east.

This Evening and Tonight:
Early evening showers will generally fade away leaving most areas dry with clear spells. Showers may linger over parts of eastern Scotland though. A few fog patches are likely by dawn and it will be a quite warm night.

Friday:
Fairly cloudy in the far north and west. Elsewhere, sunny spells but also some showers, mainly over eastern parts of the UK where some of these showers will be heavy.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunny spells and showers for many parts of the UK. Some heavy showers at times, especially on Monday with a risk of slow moving, thundery showers for many areas.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.